1. The 1953 export plan of the East German Ministry of Health provided for exports of pharmaceutical products in the amount of seven million DME. Actually, products in the amount of over 15.4 million DME were exported. This over-fulfillment of the 1953 export plan was mainly the result of the following:

a. Early in the plan year only a few export contracts with non-Communist countries were in existence. However, such contracts were later concluded.

c. Because of the unusually high production of hoof and mouth disease vaccines at the Friedrich Loeffler Institute on the Island of Riems, East Germany was able to make unplanned sales of this item in 1953 in the amount of almost two million DME.

2. The following is a table established by the East German Ministry of Health in early February 1954 which lists the 1953 exports broken down by central control offices and enterprises:

3. The following table, also established by the East German Ministry of Health in early February 1954, lists the 1953 exports of pharmaceutical products broken down by countries. There is a slight difference between the grand total of this list and the total of the list given above. The difference is caused by the fact that in the second list some minor sales were not listed.
